Treat yourself to a Lughnasa theatrical experience! Hear from contemporary playwrights and enjoy the talents of imaginative and innovative actors. We'll celebrate the work of Brian Friel, enjoy scenes from the new play "Sons of Molly Maguire" and hear a comic rant from a playwright who has a troubling and complicated relationship with money, art, and Tempurpedic mattresses. You'll learn about the god Lugh and enjoy light refreshments of the season.

All proceeds go to "The Dwelling Place of New York" - a transitional residence for homeless women in Midtown Manhattan <http://thedwellingplaceofny.org>.
